> Enter the time the hourly blood glucose (bg) is taken and the corresponding result in each column.

> Give breakfast and morning insulin AFTER "Hour 0" blood glucose check.

> Take the first reading prior to breakfast & morning insulin administration (the first high point). The "Hour 1 Reading is optional since it is not always helpful diagnostically.

> Once your cat's blood glucose reaches its lowest level (the low point) and starts to go back up, it's ok to discontinue hourly checks.

> Take one final bg at 11 - 12 hours post morning administration BEFORE giving your cat's evening dose of insulin (the final high point).

> Leave the BG result blank if no data is taken.

Fax, Email, or drop off this form to Island Cats and schedule a dr. consult (phone or in person depending on your preference) to review your cat's results and determine any changes in the medical plan (including diet, insulin, or other medications).
